Testing of Spent Bullet

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] I showed the picture of the spent bullet (see page 453) to a colleague of mine in the office who is a firearms instructor and who owns an AR 15. His view was that the bullet looks more like something from a handgun. I understand from Kimberlee that John Nixon has looked at the same picture and has the same preliminary opinion that it is more likely to be from a handgun, although of course he would need to look at the actual evidence to provide an opinion.

I understand from Kimberlee that there is some disagreement about testing the bullet and wanted to mention that my view is that it should be tested by a qualified defense expert, such as John Nixon. [REDACTED]
